Mr. Edwin E. Hood is a principal and leader. A man with initiative, who helps students seek high goals and aids them in their efforts. He wants his school to become better because he is a part of it. For his efforts we are grateful and wish him much success in the years to come.

You can teach, too?

*THIS SECTION IS DEDICATED TO THE SOMETIMES CRAZY, SOMETIMES
FUNNY, AND EVEN THE SOMETIMES
SERIOUS WORLD THAT WE LIVE IN HERE AT REBUL.*

The high school students have always been strange animals. After all, we spend one-third of our time learning subjects we'll never apply and another one-third applying things we couldn't possibly have learned in a classroom. We are sometimes wide enough in a scope to take a good look at the world and sometimes thoroughly convinced that the school is the world.

My, what big eyes you have!!

All I ask from you is 150%.

Some of us like to play hide and seek in our free time.

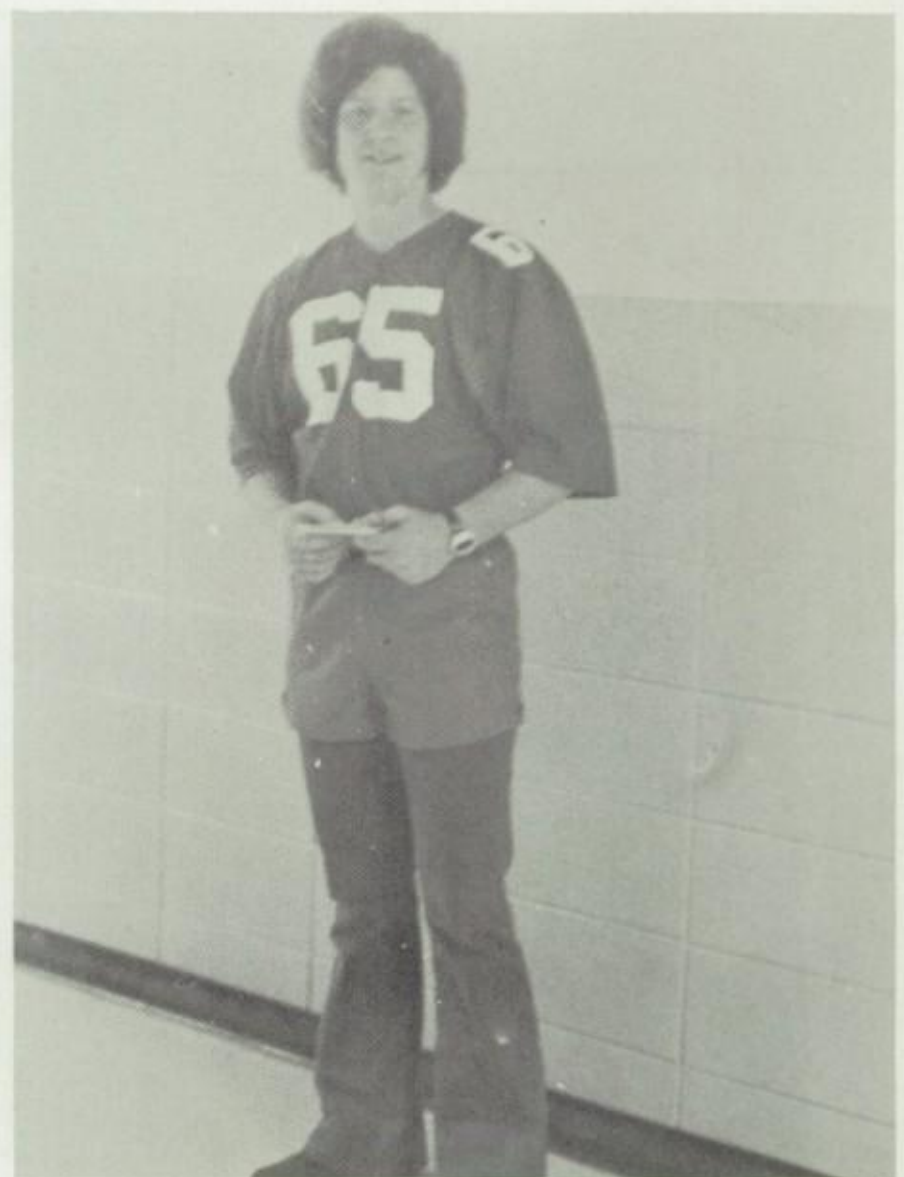

Are you sure you know how to do that?

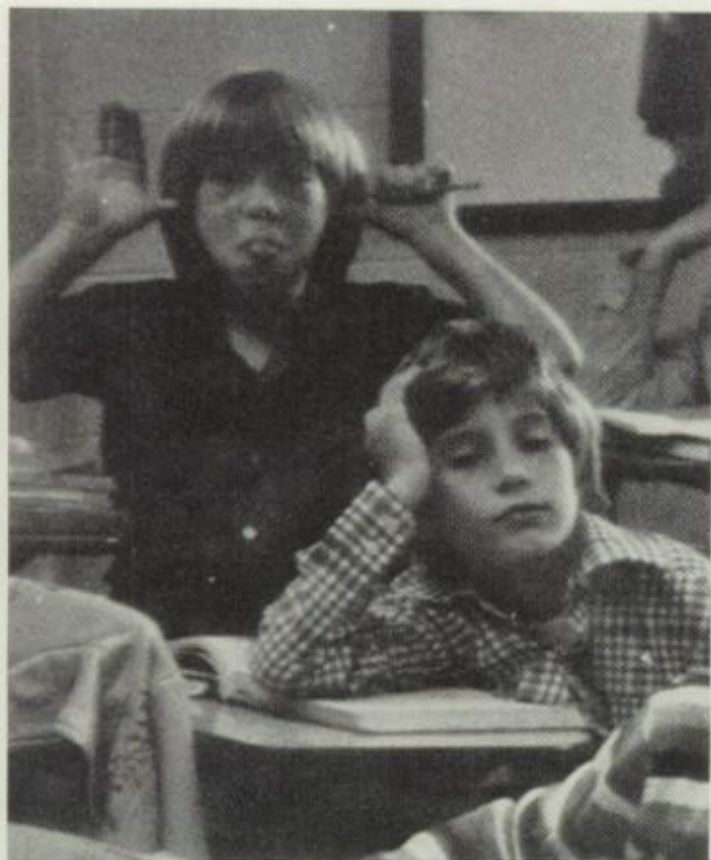

Teddy will make passing grades. I promise!!

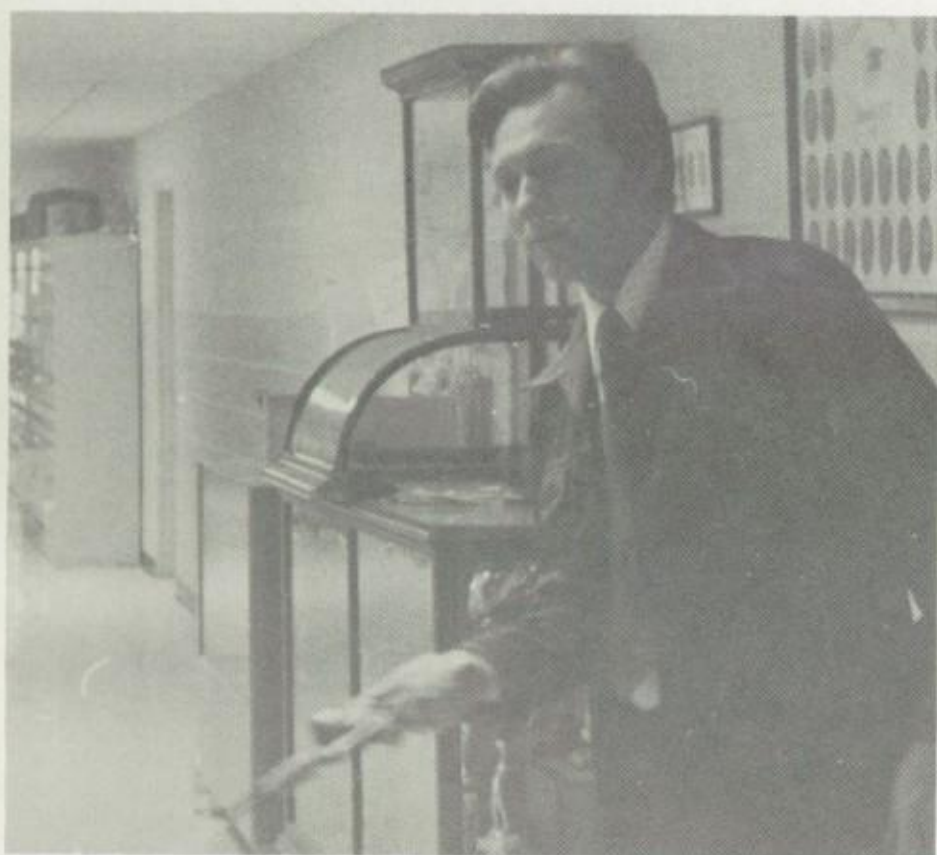

Give 'em an inch, they'll take a yard.

When Mickie and I first took over our role as Co-editors this year, we were both lost. With the help of our sponsors, Mrs. Kilby and Mrs. Barlow, and our hardworking staff, Mickie and I were able to gain enough knowledge to get this yearbook into your hands. We both hope that we have captured the memories of the 1977-78 school year in this book because it will be something to treasure always.

Beth Harris

Beth Harris

Co-editor

The 1977-78 school year at Rebul has been an eventful one, full of fun, work, and memorable occasions. We can merely record a semblance of this year's activities within the covers of this book, and therefore, we have tried to record for you a pictorial telegram of faces, places, and events of the year. As you look through the pages of this yearbook, it is our hope that the past experiences, hard work, achievements, friendships, and activities will be memories which come to life once again. We would like to express our appreciation to the merchants, business people, friends, and students who made this yearbook possible. With great pride and honor, Beth and I present the 1978 edition of the RESUME' and its memories to the student body, faculty, and friends of Rebul Academy.
